DR. JOHN BULL'S COMPOUND CEDRON BITTERS.
The Latest and Most Important Discovery of the 19th Century.
NO MAN'S NAME IS MORE INTIMATELY connected with the history of the Materia Medica of the United States, or more favorably known as the pioneer of medical discovery, than that of DR. JOHN BULL, of Louisville, Ky. His intimate preparation of Sassafras, has long stood at the head of the various compounds of that valuable drug. His Compound Pectoral of Wild Cherry has become a household word throughout the West and South, and his Worm Lozenges, in less than a year after their introduction, attained a reputation as wide spread as the continent of North America. But the crowning glory of his life remains to be attained in his latest discovery, or rather combination, for he does not claim to be the discoverer of CEDRON, which is the basis of the Bitters, now offered to the public. That he belongs to the native inhabitants of Central America, to whom its virtues have been known for more than a century and a half, and who have used it with the greatest success to the most deadly malaria, and handles without fear the most venomous serpents. It is a belief with them that while there is a breath left in the body the Cedron is potent to cure, no matter what the disease may be. While Dr. Bull is not prepared to endorse the extravagant pretensions, he is nevertheless satisfied from a thorough examination of the evidence relating to its virtues, that, as a remedy and preventive for all diseases arising from exposure either to changes of weather and climate, or to the malarious influence, it stands without a rival and justly deserves the reputation it has long enjoyed in Central America and the West Indies.

DYSPEPSIA
And its attendant train of symptoms. It acts more like a charm than a medicine. There is nothing in the whole range of materia medica that can for a moment bear a comparison with it in this disease.
A full account of this wonderful plant may be found in the 11th edition of the U. S. Dispensatory, pages 1587 and 1588.
A series of experiments, in which Dr. Bull has been for years engaged, has just been brought to a successful termination, and he is now enabled to offer to the public a combination of Cedron with other approved tonics, the whole prepared in the best quality of copper-distilled Bourbon Whisky, which he is confident has no equal in the world.
He might furnish a volume of certificates, but the public have long since learned to estimate such things at their true value. The safest plan is for every one to test for himself the virtues of a new medicine, and give the Cedron Bitters a trial, and you will never use any other.
It is not necessary to pursue a long list of the diseases for which the Cedron Bitters is adapted, and have in store, the whole prepared in the best quality of copper-distilled Bourbon Whisky, which he is confident has no equal in the world.
